Notebooks store our ideas – and that’s how they should look. That’s why we produce notebooks that are not only fit for ideas but contain a whole bunch of ideas themselves too.

A notebook by nuuna is made to be filled with good, as well as bad ideas, with spontaneous impressions, thoughts, moods or sketches. It becomes more precious and personal with each little note and every coffee stain.

We love design and beautiful objects. That’s why every notebook we produce has an individual cover artwork – applied using elaborate printing techniques or metallic effects that turn each one into a small collectors’ item.

nuuna notebooks are manufactured with special cover materials, premium paper and perfect lay flat behaviour for a better writing and sketching experience. Our premium paper is Cradle-to-Cradle certified and comes from sustainably managed forests, all colours we use are plant-oil based. Printed and bound in Germany.

nuuna – the end of boring notebooks.

SMOOTH RECYCLED LEATHER

This intelligently sustainable material finds new purpose for high quality. Recycled from leather production offcuts, it is flexible, yet durable, and offers the same characteristics of genuine leather. A soft touch coating provides a smooth textural finish, making it easy to clean.

JEANS LABEL MATERIAL

Originally designed for the name tags sewn into the waistband of your Jeans, this material withstands washing cycles and plenty of tension. Produced like paper, this natural fibre material is 100% vegan, eco-friendly, and with use, develops an ever more appealing look over time.

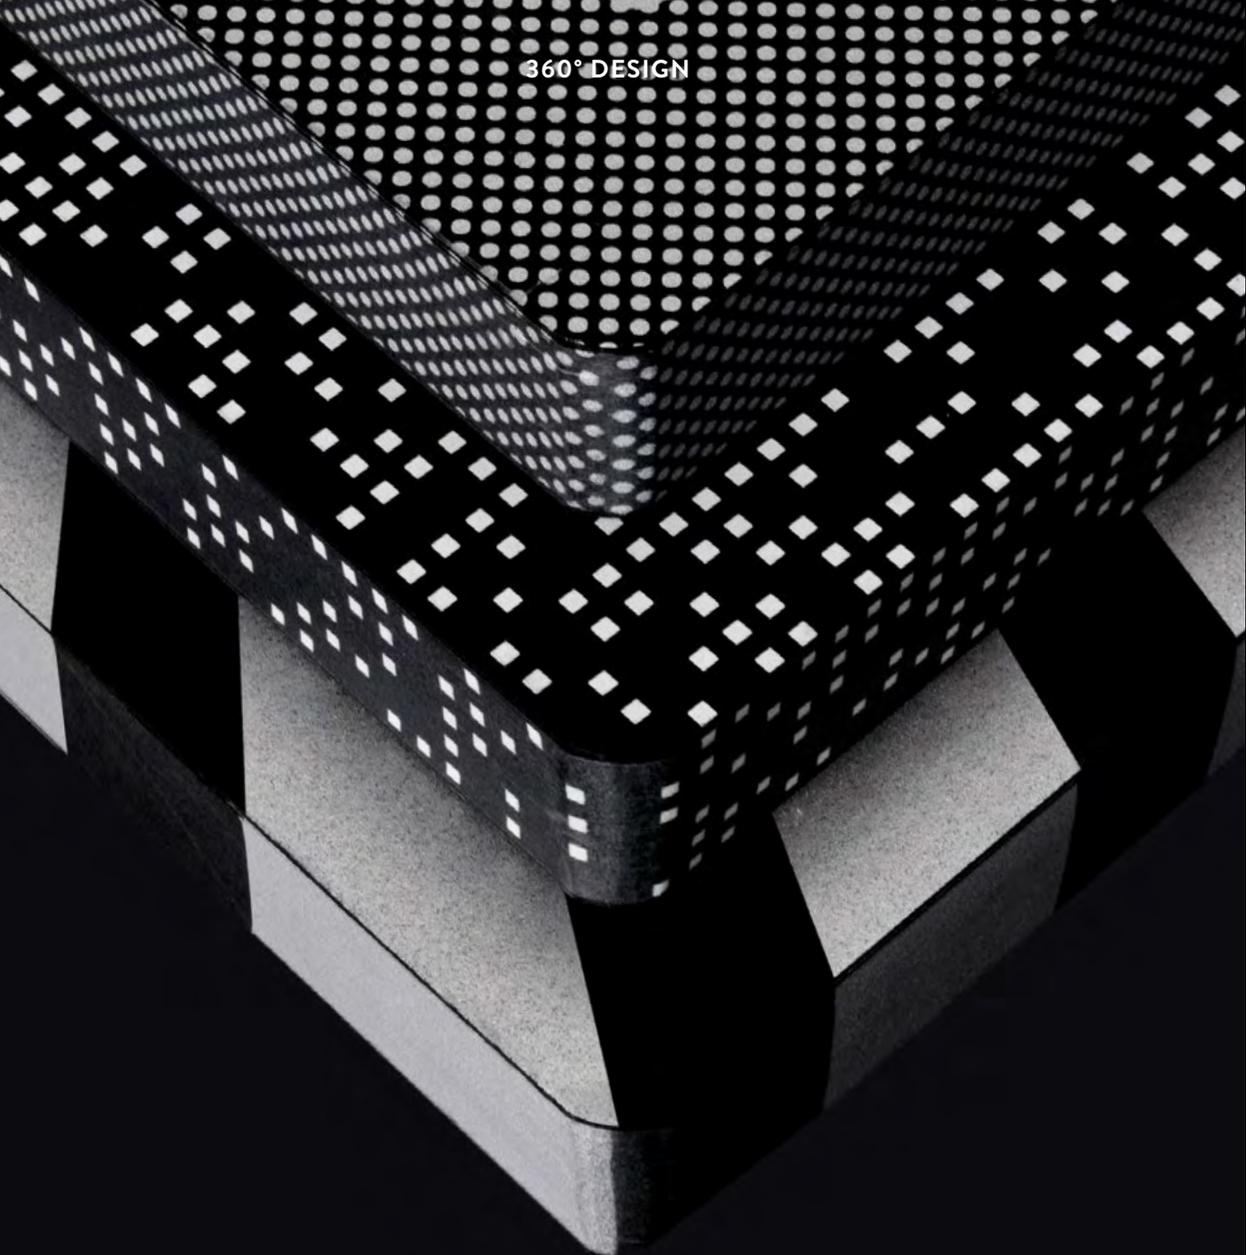

ARTIFICIAL LEATHER

Even, yet soft to the touch, artificial leather is currently used in fashion collections for shoes and handbags. With its shimmering effect, it turns your nuuna notebook into a fashionable accessory – ready to wear and 100% vegan.

BUCKRAM

A traditional bookbinding cloth, where gaps in the fibres are sealed through a soaking process. The results create a warm, smooth feel, protecting your ideas from dirt and water.

360° DESIGN

The artwork on each cover is applied using either highly pigmented silk screen printing, or hot foil debossing. We complete the design by applying matching edge colour, allowing the artwork to continue its flow around the entire book, turning each piece into a work of art.

LAY FLAT BINDING

nuuna notebooks lay perfectly flat due to their round spine, disconnected book block and solid thread stitching. This binding technique prevents page loss and ensures that you can sketch and write clean across the pages – because creativity carries infinite possibilities.

PREMIUM PAPER

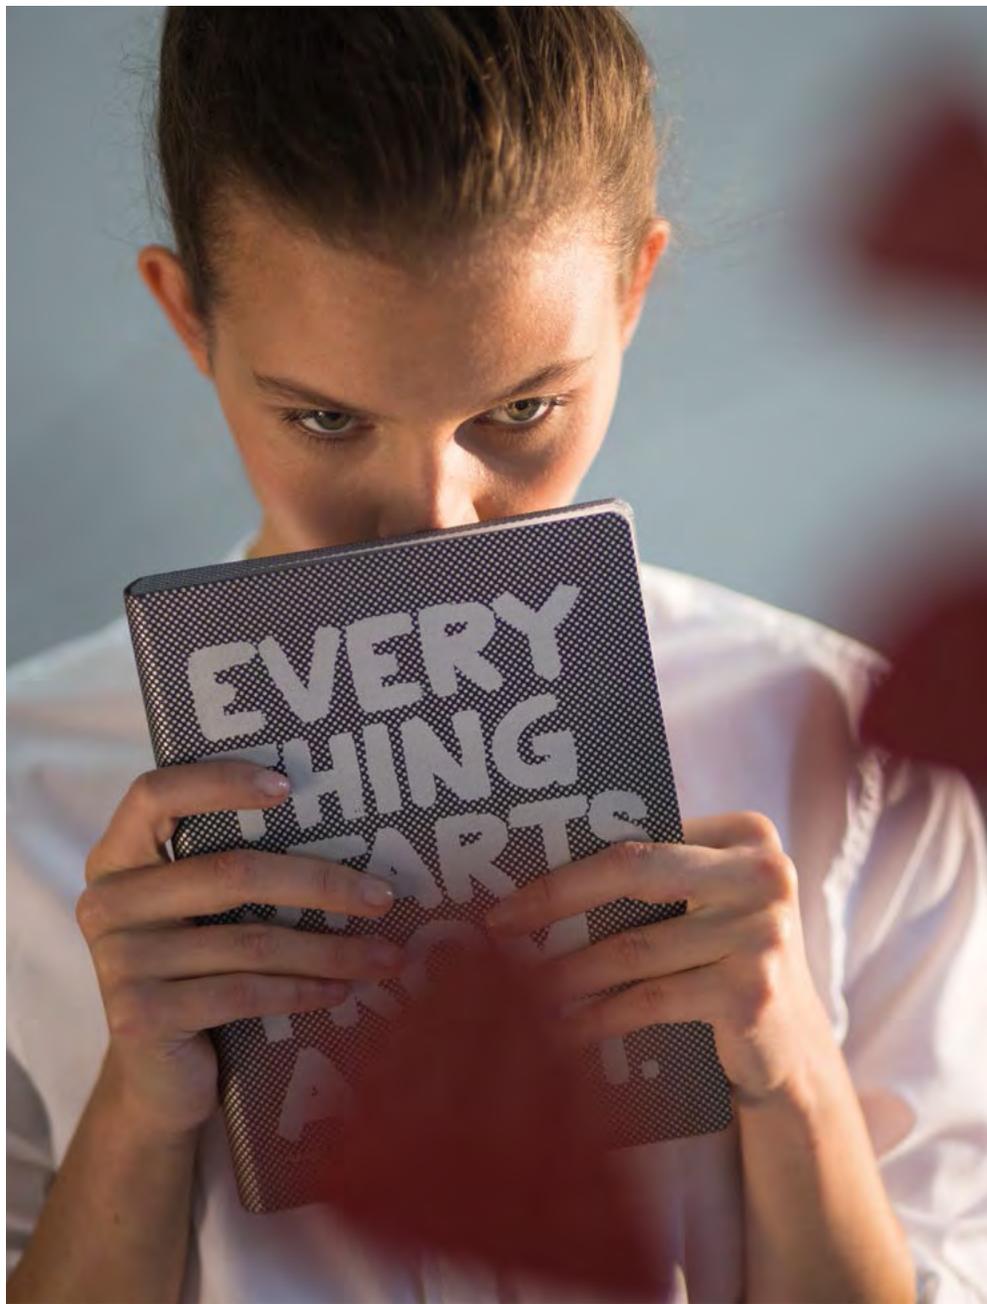

SKETCH & WRITE GRID

All nuuna notebooks come with robust, opaque 120g Munken paper, from sustainably managed forests and cradle to cradle certified. This uncoated premium paper works perfectly for a wide range of pens, ensuring a beautifully smooth writing experience. It's off white tone guarantees brilliant colour results.

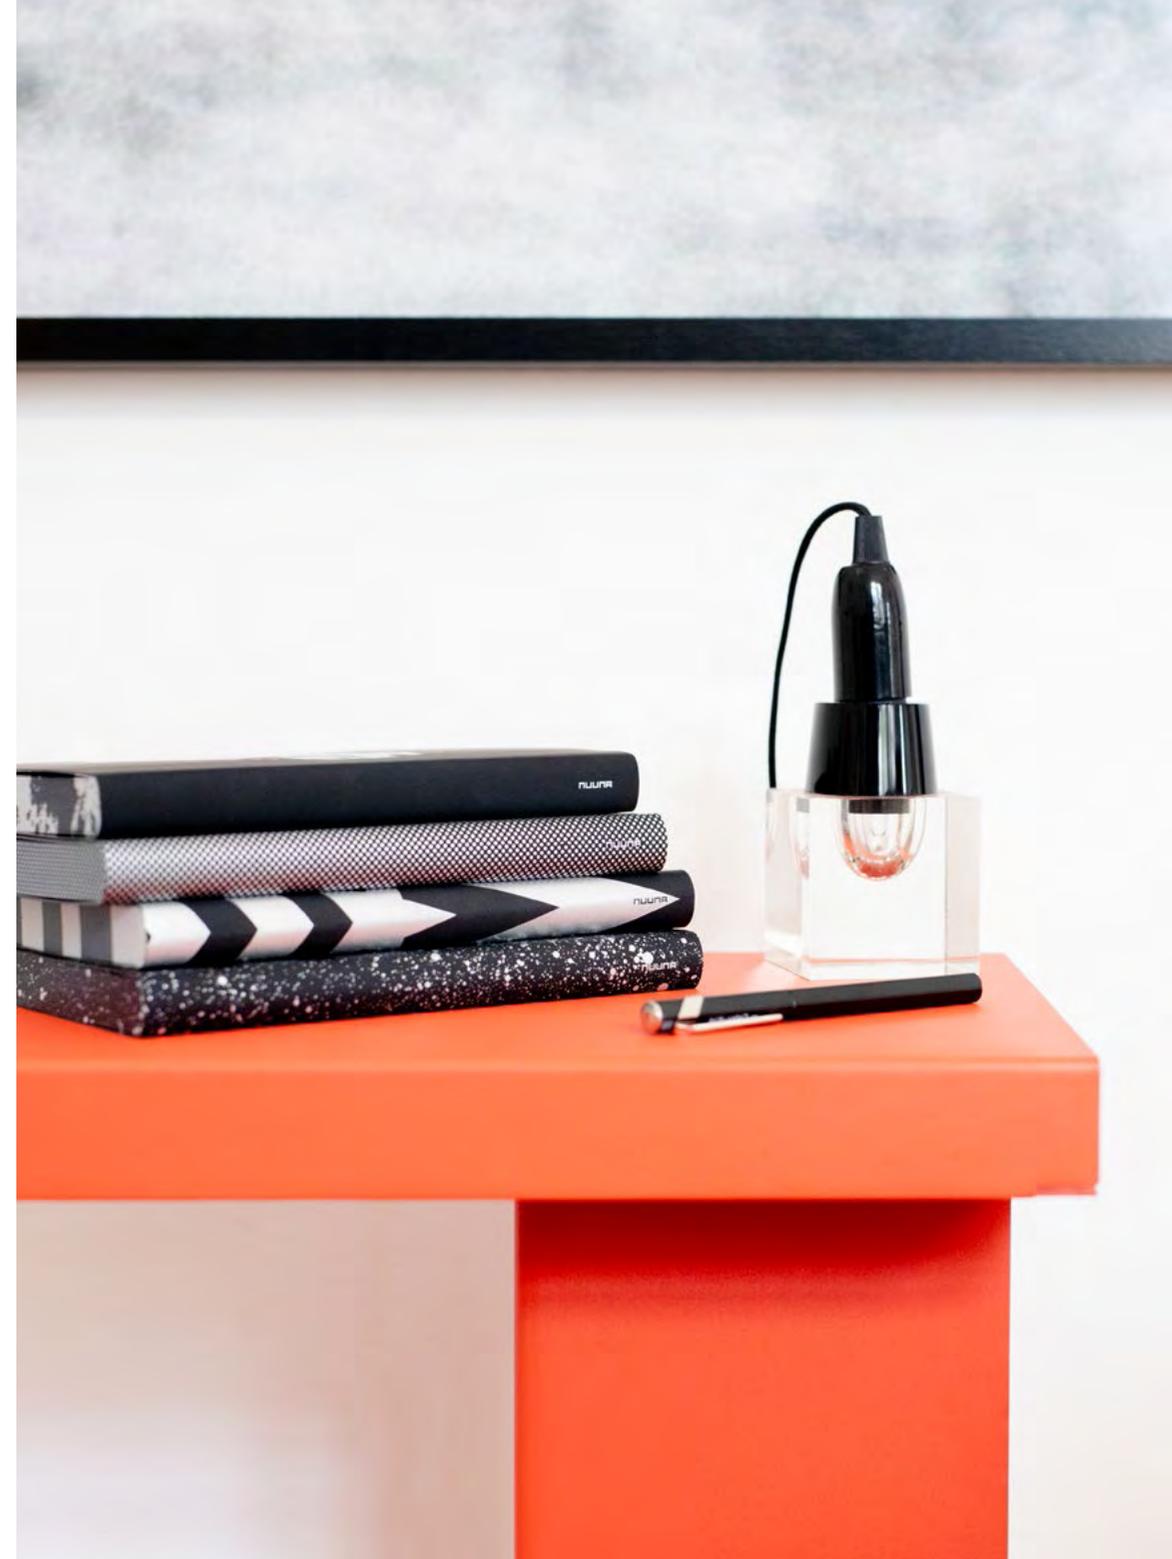

Something we came up with over twenty years ago; the subtle grey dot grid, suitable for both writing and sketching. It's perfect for offering guidance, without ruining your typeface or your drawing. Page numbers provide a quick overview.

THE MASTER PLAN

Can we effectively influence our own happiness – and if so, how? Our favourite graphic designer Stefan Sagmeister has been dealing with this question for years. He researched the effect of happiness on his own body, from meditation, behavioural therapy to the use of psychopharmaceuticals.

Just in time for Sagmeisters HAPPY SHOW at Museum Angewandte Kunst Frankfurt in 2016, we began our “Sagmeisters & Walsh for nuuna” collaboration. The result was a notebook bound in yellow smooth recycled leather, filled with 256 pages of premium paper. As Stefan Sagmeister consistently creates new and fresh ideas, this notebook is anything but ordinary: a black silk screen print with book edges completely covered by kaleidoscopic pattern.

Now you can run around with a grumpy face all you like. When you carry the HAPPY BOOK with you, people will smile at you anyway.

→ P. 121

Why do beautiful things work better?
And how much beauty can function take?
Once again, design icon Stefan Sagmeister provides us with an answer that we can all live with very well: "Function tolerates masses of beauty. Function becomes ever more functional through beauty!"

To complement the new exhibition,
SAGMEISTER & WALSH: BEAUTY at Museum
Angewandte Kunst Frankfurt, we've produced a second notebook A functional beauty with an elegant curved pattern on smooth recycled leather. Within, 256 pages of premium paper, with a subtle dot grid.

This notebook proves that beauty is universal.
it is truth, and it is function. This book is beautiful. And functional.

→ P. 121

“Art has many faces, at least one of them is your own!” – Marija Mandic

Art is a language that connects people, and brings out the expression of inspiration, feelings and thoughts. Art creates a free space in which we can discover ourselves. This is what the artist Marija Mandic says. We dived straight into this philosophy and launched our collaborative edition “Marija Mandic for nuuna” with her.

Marija Mandic has designed three notebooks, two large formats and a small one. A trio of colourful inspiration illuminates the book covers, revealing pages of premium paper with a subtle dot grid, longing to be filled with an abundance of ideas, sketches and thoughts.

→ P. 121

MARIJA MANDIC
ALL IS LOVE, HEY YOU!
→ P. 121

Every day, the artist Myriam Beltz would write her thoughts down in a notebook. At a certain point, rather than the words themselves, only the curved lines would remain. Since then, the artist has been composing her “Daily Drawings” – a drawing for every day, as a fixed routine. Initially, Beltz worked figuratively, but over time her formal language became increasingly abstract. For the covers of her nuuna art edition, the artist has chosen drawings that convey both: “Lines”, “Dots” and “Friends” are the titles of each of the three books – according to Beltz, everything she needs to be happy.

The delicate motifs, which bring the special quality of drawing by hand to the fore, are screen-printed onto the covers, which are made of vegan jeans-label material. Inside, everything is as expected: premium paper complete with dot grids – for your very own personal notebook routines.

GRAPHIC is nuuna's signature range. Every notebook features conceptual artwork – striking themes in contemporary design, following the principle of simplicity and wholeness. Nothing superfluous, all components intentional and perfectly synchronised.

GRAPHIC embodies an idea – visually, conceptually and to the touch. They come with a cover made of smooth recycled leather or Jeans Label Material, printed using a manual silk screening process. The cover motifs continue around the edges, effectively creating a sleek 360° design. Dot grid and solid thread stitching are a common feature.

GRAPHIC stands for diversity, it mirrors who we are as people. So we should ask ourselves; are they notebooks, or works of art?

A magical series with hidden surprises. These books react to the elements and their covers come with a wow effect!

Nothing to see here? Surprise! The cover print of the THERMO notebooks change colour with heat. Rub it, place a cup of coffee on it, or expose to warm sunlight. The effect is hot.

Sunlight, or other light source, is essential for lighting up the fluorescent cover print of the GLOW series. The pigments of the silk screen print first stores, and then emits light in the dark. For flashes of genius in the middle of the night.

We find energy and inspiration from outstanding artists, designers and creative friends who captivate us with their concepts and creativity. We're excited to present Sagmeister & Walsh, Marija Mandic and Myriam Beltz for nuuna. They add colour, perspective and a new dimension to our collection, and with each notebook comes a new interpretation to spark our imagination. Each artist sees our notebooks with new eyes and uses our resources in a different way. They allow their design to flow freely into the nuuna collection and turn our notebooks into portable works of art.

“Rules are what the artist breaks” – that’s how advertising icon, William Bernbach, put it in a nutshell. So, let’s break the rules! In these notebooks the grid layouts in neon blue and neon red, alter and change throughout. Take them as they are, pay them no attention, or destroy them completely. Make the book a rule-free zone, on 160 pages of premium paper.
